NEVADA HOUSING COALITION HOSTS 2023 NEVADA HOUSING CONFERENCE, WELCOMES NEW EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

LAS VEGAS, NV – The Nevada Housing Coalition (NHC) is proud to announce its fourth annual statewide Nevada Housing Conference taking place on October 11-12 at Circa Resort & Casino in Las Vegas. Themed Destination: Affordable Housing, this event will convene over 300 affordable housing stakeholders from across the state, and country, for a two-day event focused on education and strategic collaboration around Nevada’s housing challenges.

Special guests include U.S. Senator Catherine Cortez Masto, who has been a champion for affordable housing in Nevada, Treasurer Zach Conine, Mayor Carolyn G. Goodman, Jon Ralston, CEO of the Nevada Independent, and Jon D. Ponder, Founder & CEO of HOPE for Prisoners, Inc. An impressive lineup of over 90 industry leaders will sit on panels to discuss topics such as federal and state housing policy, affordable housing finance, housing after incarceration, supportive housing, affordable homeownership, and senior housing.

In addition to the conference, the Nevada Housing Coalition Board of Directors is pleased to announce that it has appointed Maurice Page as the new Executive Director of NHC. Maurice brings a wealth of leadership and housing expertise and is deeply committed to driving positive change for housing solutions across the state. The Nevada Housing Conference offers various networking opportunities, and attendees will have the opportunity to meet Maurice and connect with other affordable housing professionals throughout the event.

Registration for the conference closed on Friday, October 6th with 339 registered attendees. A limited number of press passes are available.
